

Bryan McFarland, MPAS, PA-C

Orthopedic Urgent Care Provider

Senior Physician Assistant Bryan McFarland brings both clinical expertise and proven leadership to OrthoIndy's orthopedic urgent care team. A retired Army National Guard officer, Bryan served his fellow Americans for three decades.

He began his military career in the U.S. Navy as a corpsman, serving eight years before commissioning as a physician assistant in the Army National Guard.

His service included a deployment to Somalia for Operation Restore Hope from December 1992 to February 1993 and to Iraq in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom from August 2008 to August 2009.

Certified by the National Commission on Certification of Physician Assistants (NCCPA), Bryan is a member of Physician Assistants in Orthopaedic Surgery. He earned his bachelor's degree in biology, with a minor in chemistry, from Purdue University in Indianapolis (formerly part of IUPUI). He then completed the Physician Assistant program at Butler University and went on to earn his master's degree with a focus on orthopedics from the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha.
