

Eric Rearden, PA-C

Orthopedic Urgent Care Provider

Physician Assistant Eric Rearden was inspired to pursue a career in medicine after undergoing surgery at OrthoIndy more than a decade ago. The experience gave him firsthand insight into the impact of skilled, compassionate care and ultimately led him to become a physician assistant so he could support patients on their path to recovery.

Now certified by the National Commission on Certification of Physician Assistants (NCCPA), Eric brings broad experience caring for patients of all ages to OrthoIndy's orthopedic urgent care. With a background in a high-volume clinic that treated both scheduled patients and walk-ins, he is skilled at addressing concerns efficiently while ensuring patients feel heard. Eric's experience also includes assisting in a range of surgical cases, which strengthens his ability to guide patients as they begin their treatment plans. Dedicated to clear communication with both patients and fellow providers, he helps ensure continuity and quality of care throughout the recovery process.

Eric earned both his Bachelor of Science in health science and his Master of Physician Assistant Studies at Butler University in Indianapolis. A fun fact: As part of his college experience, Eric studied abroad in Sydney, Australia.
